ISS GRACE ALLEN, of London, who lectured before the Wo-man's Club yesterday afternoon, made an unusually interesting talk on "The Idyll of Ruskin's Man-hood-Rose La Touche." Miss Allen is a very distinguished women, widely cultured and peculiarly fitted to re-late the most fascinating incidents about that author, as both her father and her uncle, John Hobbes, were the timate friends of John Ruskin, Ruskin's mother was Miss Allen's goded in many ways.
In opening her address, Miss Allen paid some very charming compliments to Virginians and their State, and mentloned a great many things that we have in common with the older nation.

She gave a brief history of the life of "The London home to the special the great author, noting by the way, ambassador to the coronation of King that she was not a Ruskin crank, and George, John Hays Hammond, will be that even though "those that live near-est the sun must perforce see the spots they did not deny its radiance." He was full of contradictions, both in his writings and character, and the lecturer held up both for her audience to inspect at will.
In touching the romances of Rusbrought out very carefully the effect of her influence over his writings, par-ticularly in "Sesame and Lilies." She spoke of the great loss to the literary guished somewhat, but its glories are world when Ruskin's love-letters were burned, and read the one fragment that had escaped the well meaning friend who had destroyed them. Bristol, Va., March 27.—It is said to be the sense of the City Council that there shall be no reduction in the price of liquor licenses, beginning with the new license year, May 1, although many of the saloon men have expressed the view that the rate is almost prohibitive. There are a few who believe that they can maintain a business sufficient to meet that and other expenses, which aggregate from $6,000 to $10,000 or year for each liquor house. The license paid the city alone is $2,500 for each saloon.

Harem Skirt Creates Sensation.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Bristol. Va., March 27.—The harem skirt proved a sensation when it was worn on the streets for the first time here on Saturday afternoon. Partly through curiosity and partly for the purpose of determining the probable status of bifarious skirts as regards social circles here, over 2,000 women and girls lined the street to witness the scene, when a chorus girl proceeded from the Harmeling Theatre to the hotel attired in one of the gowns.

Shooting at a Crap Game.

During the progress of an exciting game of craps about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, in the house of James Fields, on Kentucky Avenue, a negrow woman named Etta Tatum was shot and probably fatally wounded by John alias "Doc." Hall, one of the players. The game had progressed long and a number of young negro men and one or more women ioined in it. At the lest trouble arose and a pistol was drawn, as is alleged, by Charles Williams. Hall says that to save himself he grabbed the pistol from Williams's hand and began the shooting himself. He shot three times in the crowd, hitting no one but the Tatum woman, who was not playing. The ball entered her breast and passed through the lung, inflicting a wound that will likely prove fatal. Hall fied from the house, and was arrested on the street.

Negro Thieves Arrested.

Two negroes, Tom Long and John Henry Staten, who have both served time In fall as thleves, were arressed to-day, on the charge of breaking into the dwelling house of Stith Beasley, on Mars Street, several days ago, and stealing two watches, a pistol and a suit of clothes, which they subsequently pawned or sold. It was the pistol with which John Hall shot and desperately wounded the woman Etta Tatum Sunday morning during a crap game. The police found that Tom Long hal sold the pistol, which was identified as the property of "r. Beasley, All of the stolen property was recovered to-day. The house we robbed while the family was away.
